DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. The specification is objected to under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, as failing to provide an adequate written description of the invention. The applicant has failed to incorporate a foreign test standard in the specification.

3. The incorporation of essential material by reference to a foreign application or foreign patent or to a publication inserted in the specification is improper. Applicant is required to amend the disclosure to include the material incorporated by reference. The amendment must be accompanied by an affidavit or declaration executed by the applicant, or applicants attorney or agent, stating that the amendatory material consists of the same application. In re Hawkins, 486 F.2d 569, 179 USPQ 157; In re Hawkins, 486 F.2d 569, 179 USPQ 163; In re Hawkins, 486 F.2d 569, 179 USPQ 167.

4. In order to avoid a 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph rejection when the applicant attempts to incorporate a foreign test standard in the specification (see pages 3, lines 13 and 15), it is recommended that the applicant further incorporates the standard in the specification or submit an English translation of the standard.

5. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, for the reasons set forth in the objection to the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hirose et al. (US 6,203,899 B1) in view of Naik et al. (US 2003/0112311 A1).

8. Hirose discloses an ink jet printing medium comprising a base, an ink receiving layer on the base and a surface layer on the ink receiving layer (abstract). The base comprises paper (col. 7, line 38). The ink receiving layer and the surface layer are equivalent to the claimed at least one layer of an ink absorbing layer because in Hirose a dye in an ink passing through the surface layer is being captured in the surface layer, and a solvent and some of a dye in the ink not captured by the surface layer are absorbed in the ink receiving layer (col. 4, lines 27-39). The print medium has a surface gloss of 20% or higher at 20 degree (col. 5, line 47). The surface layer comprises cationic particles such as gamma alumina (col. 4, line 5), a binder such as polyvinyl alcohol (col. 4, line 46), and other additive (col. 4, line 44). The print medium may be subjected to a surface treatment by casting process so as to more enhance the surface gloss (col. 11, line 9). Hirose does not disclose an optical brightener as the additive in the surface layer.

9. Naik teaches an ink jet printable media comprising a substrate and an ink receptive layer comprising filler, a binder and other components (abstract). The media has a brightness value of 90% or greater [0012], and the ink receiving layer comprises an optical brightener of triazinylamino stilbene derivative type ([0088], general formula (V) and general formula (VI)).

10. Hirose and Naik are analogous art because they are from the same field of endeavor that is the ink jet recording medium art. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine the optical brightener of Nail with the surface layer of Hirose so as to provide a printing media having a brightness that is typically greater than 90% ([0012] of Naik).
